Department of Family Medicine

Annual Report

2014

Therese M. Zink, M.D., M.P.H.
Professor and Chair

For the period including
January 1, 2014 — December 31, 2014
Statement from the Chair

The Department of Family Medicine launched 2014 with focus groups followed by a spring retreat to craft a new strategic plan and vision statement. In line with the mission, the department identified goals for the next three years. The dashboard below compares our progress during 2014 with earlier years.

Medical Education: Our goal is to attract more students to family medicine. This year we re-energized the Family Medicine Interest Group (FMIG) by offering more activities, providing more scholarships to meetings and research opportunities, and having faculty more actively involved. Drs. Binder, Zink and resident physicians, Nick Bellanco and Kyle Ott, talked to the first year class over the lunch hour about the dimensions of family medicine. New FMIG activities included a book group, writing group, discussion with community physicians about their career paths (Drs. Annette Chavez, Dale Block and Laure Roth). The WSU BSOM received the Top Ten Award from AAFP for students going into Family Medicine once again. Students were placed with community preceptors through the AHEC program. Clerkship preceptors were visited by Dr. Zink or Dr. Donnelly, given a certificate and frame for their commitment to the Department and lunch for staff.

The residency continues to be solid with six of eight new residents acquired through the match, in addition to two military and three outside the match. Four graduating residents accepted positions in the Dayton area. Dr. Lisa Kellar and a team of resident physicians secured a grant from the Society of Teachers of Family Medicine (STFM) to improve influenza and pneumonia immunization rates in seniors at the clinic and in the community. The team partnered with WSU’s Center for Healthy Communities and director Dr. Kate Cauley in outreach efforts to health fairs, churches and other community organizations. Resident physician Dr. Lara Ilyas partnered with seasoned Substance Abuse and Mental Health Service Administration (SAMSHA) funded researcher Dr. Josephine Wilson in the WSU Department of Community Health to secure a National Institute on Drug Abuse NIDA/STFM training award that screens patients for alcohol and drug abuse and enrolls them in CARETEXT, a text message program that sends motivational messages about achieving sobriety to the participant’s cell phone. Over 1,000 adult patients were screened for alcohol and drug use in the first five months of the grant. The study has provided data for additional research projects at the residency. Resident Physicians Dr. Zia Khan and Dr. Holly Enaker received funding from DAGMEC (Dayton Area Graduate Medical Education) for a project that uses “portion control” plates and cups and a brief counseling intervention in the office to help patients make better lifestyle choices.

Patient Care: Progress toward PCMH certification and implementation continues at both practice sites under the guidance of faculty medical directors: Five Rivers Family Health Center (Dr. Elizabeth Righter) and at Wright State Physicians Family Health Center (Dr. Donald Clark). NCQA applications have been submitted and more importantly interprofessional and team-based care is happening.

Five Rivers Family Health Center has care teams competing on quality improvement initiatives.

Wright State Family Health Center altered schedules to provide for same day access and more appointments resulting in over one thousand new patients seen during 2014, almost double that of the previous year. We began offering integrated behavioral health by partnering with the WSU School of Professional Psychology, Dr. Alison Fernander and two of her Psy.D. students who are available two days a week to help patients with treatment plan adherence, stress management, and more traditional counseling issues. Dr. Clark received a Program Enhancement Award to Foster Innovation from STFM which will allow us to bring in a national expert on Behavioral Health Integration to help us evaluate our payment models and evaluation methods.

Scholarship/Research expansion plans were guided by the consultation visit of Carol Lange, Director of Research at the Department of Family Medicine at the University of Minnesota. She helped us understand the issues we need to work on within BSOM and how to organize and support research efforts in the department. We recruited a research manager and began scholarship collaborative groups at both the residency and WSP to create monthly opportunities to discuss and share ideas about possible projects.

Faculty partnered with experienced researchers in the Department of Community Health, Drs. Kate Cauley and Jo Wilson, to pursue a number of different awards. As a result of these efforts, medical student, resident and faculty research and attendance at national and regional family medicine meetings increased dramatically, as did publications. Dr. Zink worked with BSOM endowment to increase contributions that can fund scholarship activities for student research and attendance at family medicine meetings.

Communication was enhanced with an intentional partnership with the BSOM Communications. Faculty members have been responsive to media requests. Within the department a weekly FM update was launched. The department web page was revised and a department Facebook page and Twitter page were created.
2014 has been a busy and productive year with many changes for faculty and staff. Change creates its own havoc and some have embraced the new expectations and activities, others have tolerated them, and still others have left. Developing relationships within the department, within divisions and with other BSOM departments has been a priority. We have also reached out to other Schools and Colleges at Wright State as partners in research and clinical care. Our graduates from BSOM who specialized in Family medicine and from WSU family medicine residency are valuable as preceptors for our students and residents, sources of ideas and connections for strengthening family medicine in the region and state. Partnering with key stakeholders in the community is imperative for the department’s success. Improved communication and creating opportunities to get to know each other, to work and play together will help to break down the silos and isolation that have marked the department for several years. We continue to move forward and anticipate exciting times for family medicine. With health care reform, the journey may be chaotic, but the specialty of family medicine is more important than ever.

- FM 700 - MS3 block rotation year-long
- FM 806 - MS4 sub-internships year-long
Mary Elizabeth Rodes, M.D. (activities through December 7, 2014)
- SMD 512 - Teach ICM-1 Physical Exam Skills Small Group
- FMD 700 – MS-III classes for Family Medicine Clerkship, Managing Multiple Medical Problems, Information Mastery
- FMD 801
- FMD 824 - Precept MS-III s in office
- FMD 899 - Precept MS-IV s in office

Barry J. Skrobot, M.D.
- SMD 512
- SMD 542
- FMD 801
- FMD 824 and 899 - precept students in office

Therese M. Zink, M.D.
- FMD 700 precepting students in the office

Teresa W. Zryd, M.D.
- SMD 512 – co-teaches small Group
- FMD 603 – precepts (2) students
- FMD 700 – Managing Multiple Medical Problems
- Chronic Medical Disease Management Clerkship talk

Graduate medical education

Donald L. Clark, M.D.
- WSU Family Medicine residency – inpatient service attending

Denise A. Griffith, M.D.
- WSU Family Medicine residency – Conducts didactic conferences for residents - Nutrition for Heart Health, Hand-off Review, Pre-Op Eval, Asthma, Strep A
- Inpatient Core lecture series
- Inpatient service attending
- Precept residents at Five Rivers Family Health Center

Paul J. Hershberger, Ph.D.
- WSU BSOM Family Medicine residency – Thursday AM Morning Report, brief presentations (weekly)
- Psychosocial Rounds (bi-weekly meeting with inpatient team)
- Facilitator for monthly support group
- Didactic presentations (bi-monthly)
- Facilitator for review of resident-patient encounters
- Motivational Interviewing training, Psych/Chem Dep rotation (weekly)
Internal Medicine Residency Program
- R1 Workshop – “Self-Control” (5/20/14)

Lisa C. Kellar, M.D.
- WSU Family Medicine residency – inpatient service attending
• Precept residents at Five Rivers Family Health Center
• Precept residents—Family Medicine Obstetrics, including on-call rotation, postpartum rounds, outpatient obstetrical patient visits
• Precept residents at the Preble County Health Department Well Woman/Prenatal Clinic
• Resident Didactic Lecture Presentations on subjects including Women’s Health, Prenatal Care, Scholarly Endeavors and Continuous Learning, Biostatistics, Complimentary/Alternative Medicine, Various Pediatric Topics, Antibiotic Stewardship, Colposcopy, etc.
